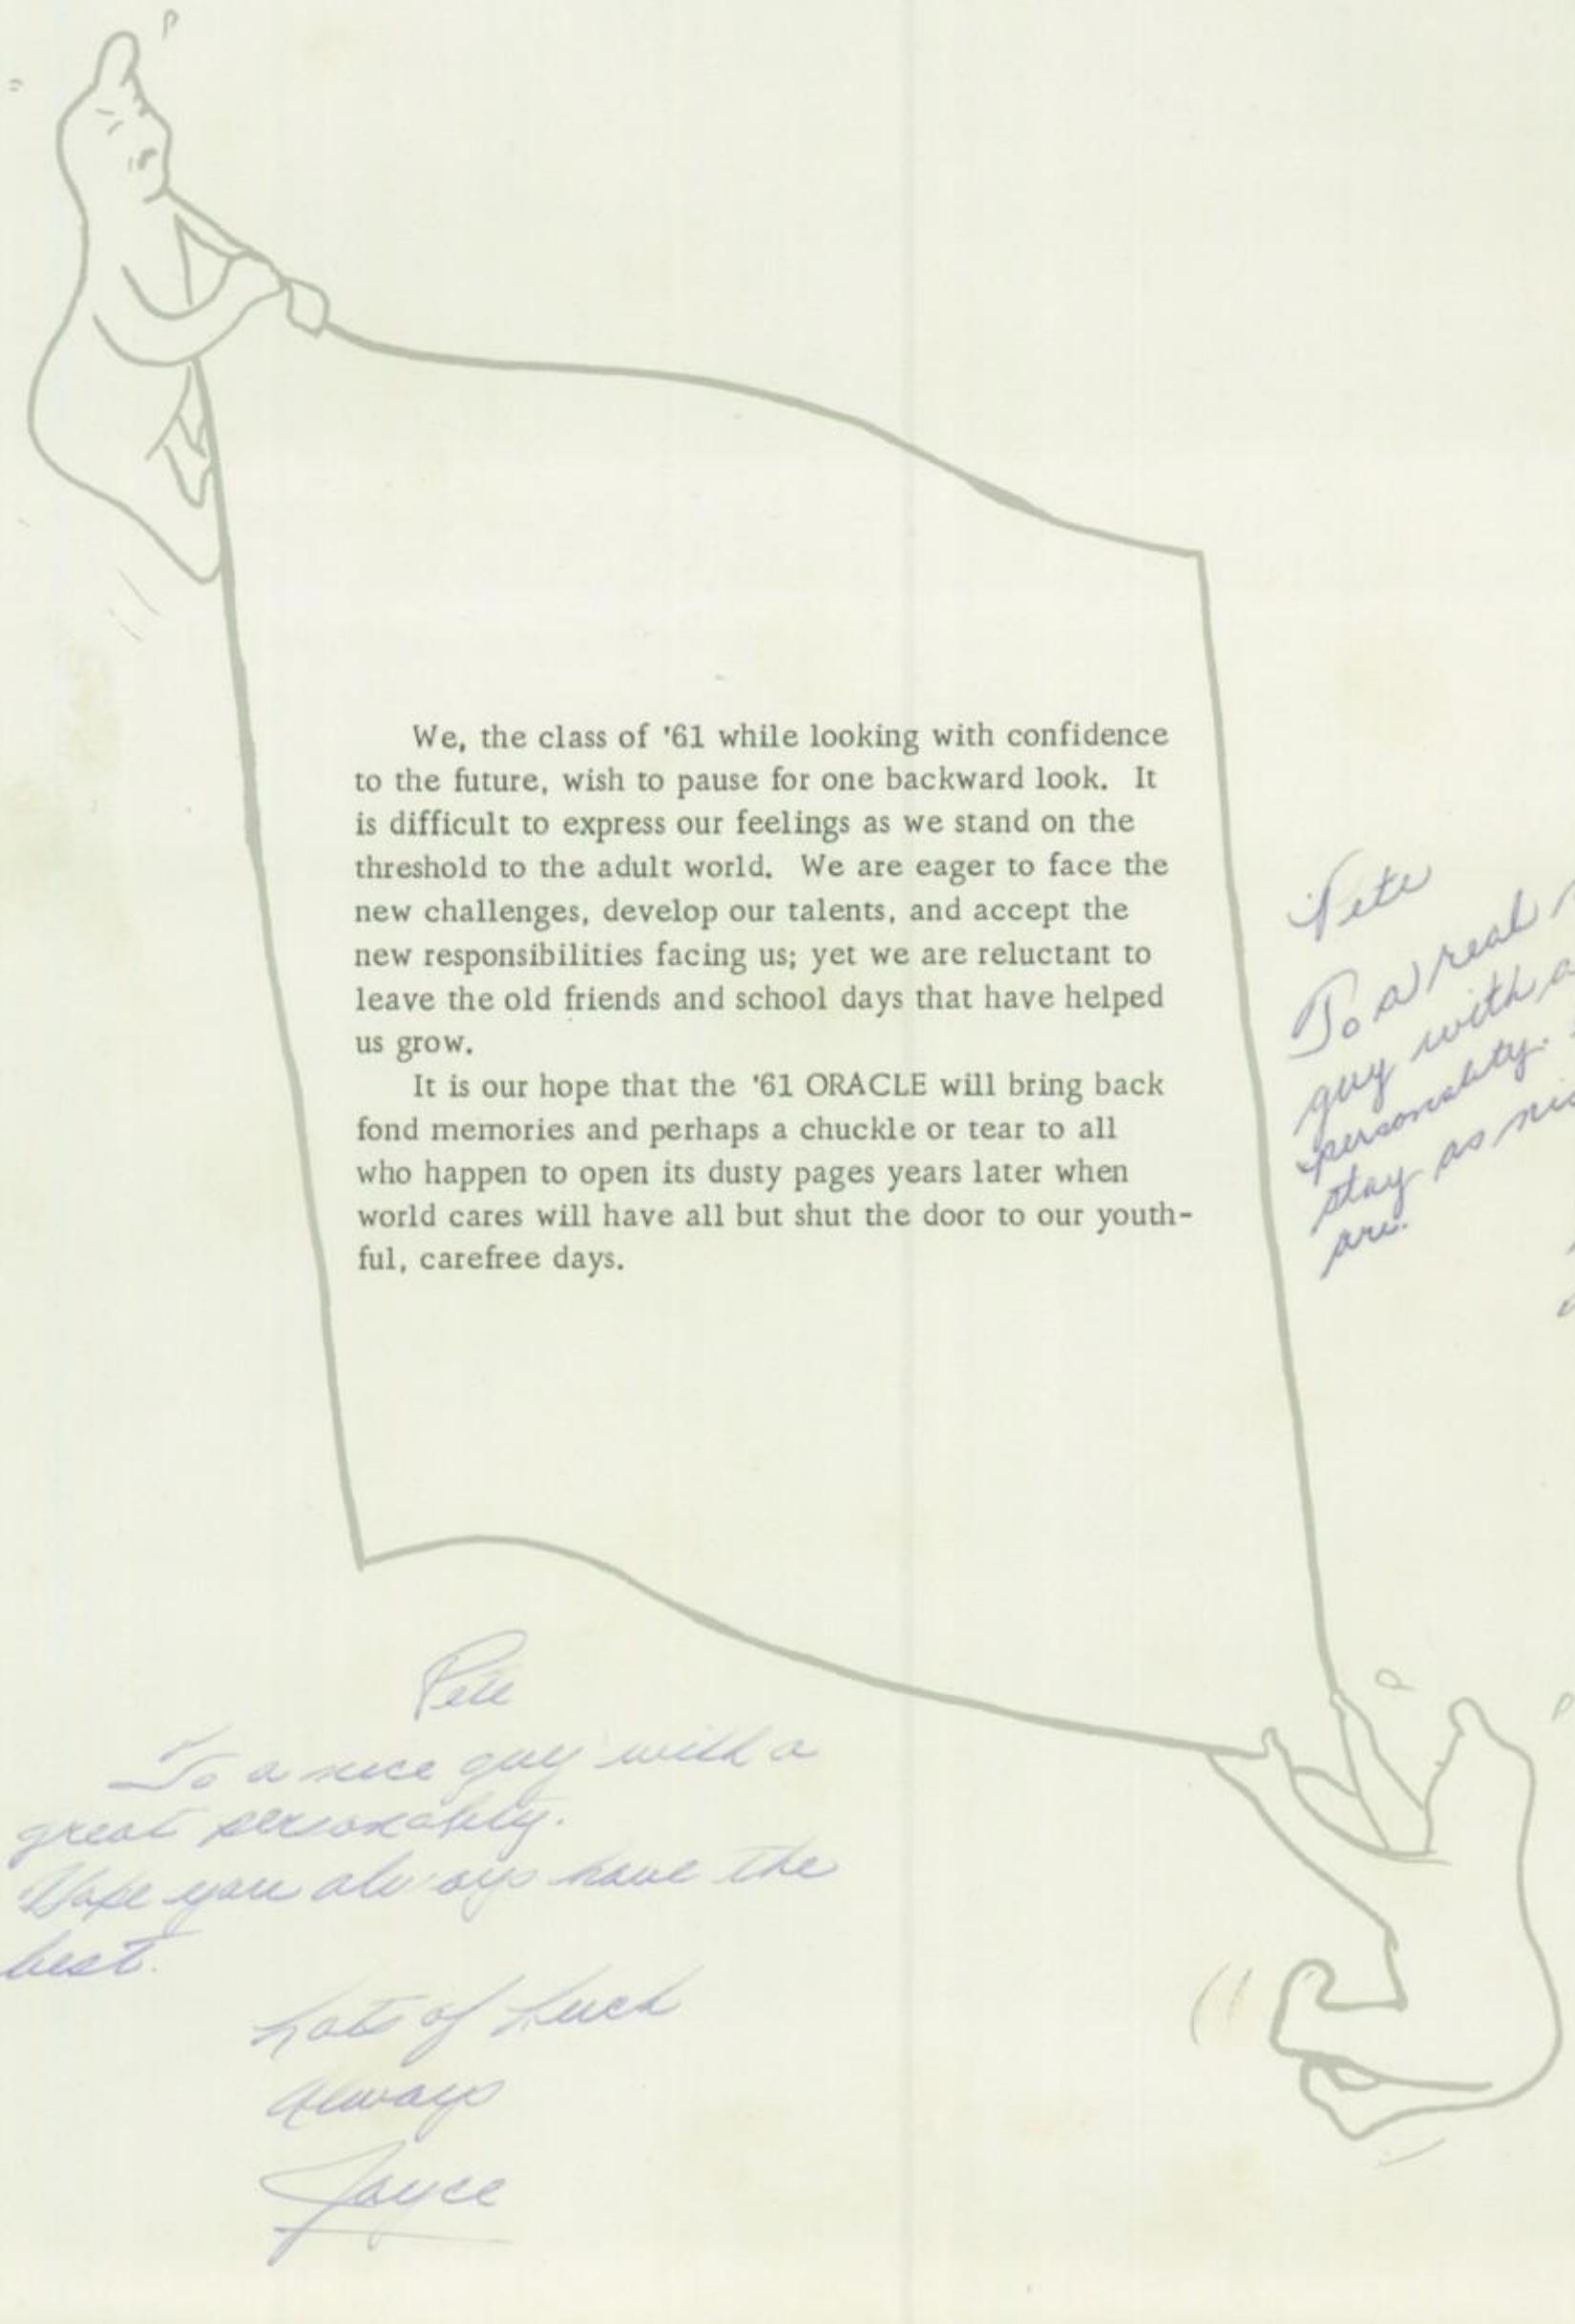
We Remember —



We, the class of '61 while looking with confidence to the future, wish to pause for one backward look. It is difficult to express our feelings as we stand on the threshold to the adult world. We are eager to face the new challenges, develop our talents, and accept the new responsibilities facing us; yet we are reluctant to leave the old friends and school days that have helped us grow.

It is our hope that the '61 ORACLE will bring back fond memories and perhaps a chuckle or tear to all who happen to open its dusty pages years later when world cares will have all but shut the door to our youthful, carefree days.

Pete
To a really nice guy with a great personality. Always stay as nice as you are!
Always

DEDICATION

A valued friend and dedicated teacher, Mr. Borowicz is easily recognized by his sly grin, his blue blazer, and the expression, "Hold it!" Before classes assemble he can be found standing in front of room 271. Here he teaches English and Speech to the future graduates. Among his many attributes, this season he proved himself a capable basketball coach in his newly appointed position.

ADMINISTRATION

TO THE CLASS OF 1961:

Many youth today are concerned about their personal and economic security. As soon as they complete their public education, they look for a job that will assure them steady work and a regular income. Security, or a guarantee against material want, appears to be the goal of many.

As desirable as it may be, security is not a noble goal. It is too self-centered and, as a guiding principle, tends to blunt ambition and leads to complacency and mediocrity.

Look for your goal among the stars. Let your ideals shine through to light the way. Be adventurous, with vision and faith. Accept the challenge to live up to your capabilities. Forget yourself and learn to serve others with loyalty. Be charitable and magnanimous. With courage, confidence, persistence and all the strength you can muster, pursue and defend what is just and true.

These are the exhortations of life to youth and in them lies the secret of security, genuine personal satisfaction and successful living.

FRONT ROW: Samuel Blake, Charles Ruffo, Ernest Clinger, Homer Buxton, Herbert Bell, Harvey Moore.
SECOND ROW: Maynard Erb, Allen Loosemore, Benjamin Downs, Walter Swartz, Russell Canon, William Campbell, Marvin Manbeck, Lawrence Metz, Ruel James.

The clinic is, perhaps, the busiest room in the school. Here, generous doses of medicinal treatment, concern, and sympathy are administered to all in need of them. Many thanks to some real friends.

Do you need a stapler, lunch ticket, change for a nickel, or a late-slip to class? If you do, just step into the office for a friendly smile and a helping hand from the three secretaries.

Dr. M. F. Strockbine, Mrs. George Chisholm, R.N., Dr. George Cobbler.

Mrs. William Mild, Mrs. Harold Garrett, Miss Lynn Martini.

Miss Elizabeth Mitcheltree, Mrs. Alverda Matthews.

A popular retreat for students with problems is the guidance room. Whether it is a change in schedule, college advice, or the solution to a plane geometry problem, the student is sure to receive understanding and a workable solution from Miss Mitcheltree, Guidance Counselor, and Mrs. Matthews, Home-School Visitor.

Arriving on the first day of their last year, the new seniors reminisced about the long happy days of the summer. It was discovered that water skiing, swimming, and sunning were the favorite summer pastimes. Many seniors held jobs to help pay for the expenses of senior activities and college tuition.

A surprising number of the boys had new cars or had fixed up their old ones, and the air was soon filled with talk of "duel exhausts, four-barrelled carburetors, and customizing." The girls oohed and ahed over one another's new clothes, hairdos, and boyfriends, while catching up on the latest gossip.

Last year's problems were forgotten when we anticipated the Washington trip, the class play, parties, the Prom, and commencement. As usual, it took several days to learn schedules, receive books, and settle down to the routine of school.

In this section, in addition to presenting the graduates, let us review the highlights of the 1960-61 term.

The Roaring Twenties returned in full glory when the seniors began the term with a really rockin' record hop. "Twenty-three skidoo!" and "Oh, you kid!" were common expressions when the girls, attired in fringed skirts, long rope necklaces, bangles, and false eyelashes, entered the gym.

To create atmosphere, a fashion show and a Charleston Contest were held.. Sally Jones was chosen the best dressed Miss 1920 while Kathy Cunningham's rendition of the Charleston won her a prize.

The rafters shook and hands clapped as Gary Fobes turned the hi-fi up, and the crowd watched a "way-out" rendition of the Twist by Regina Nych and Chuckie Simpson.

It was work cleaning up the candy and ice-cream wrappers after the last slow waltz, but even those on the clean-up committee agreed it was well worth the trouble. We vowed to have another dance, an even better one, at the first possible moment.

Seventy sleepy eyed, suitcase laden, excited seniors gathered at the high school in the still hours before the dawn of October 12, 1960. Teeth chattering with the unaccustomed cold, we waited eagerly for the two buses that were to take us to Washington, D. C. Finally they arrived, and we set off on the biggest adventure of our lives.

After an enjoyable journey spent in singing, playing cards, viewing scenery, and eating, we checked into the Hotel Burlington. Here we were shown to our rooms where we were warned to be quiet as there were other guests in the hotel. Much to the chagrin of the chaperones, several of the boys spent part of the night in the lobby where their exuberant laughter wouldn't disturb anyone.

Perhaps the management understood how difficult it is for young people to restrain their enthusiasm because we received a letter of commendation from the hotel manager. Score one for W.M.H.S.!

The next few days proved to be the most interesting and tiring of our lives. We spent the days walking and riding, and the nights talking about what we had seen during the day.

All agreed the Washington Monument was beautiful by night; the Arlington National Cemetery, though provoking; and the FBI fascinating. No one could agree on which one had really impressed him the most. Was it the cool, awe-inspiring solemnity of the Lincoln Memorial, the calm serenity of the Jefferson Monument, or the old fashioned elegance of Mount Vernon?

Some of the things we will always remember are: climbing the stairs of the Washington Monument, eating in the House dining room, Messers. Borowicz and Powell climbing over the turnstile at the Washington National Airport, and Ike's birthday party at the White House.

The Order of the Black Hand, an exclusive society, found its beginning in October of 1960. Charter members, Phil McQueen, Chris Godfrey, Ted Creighton, and Grace Johnson have not washed their hands since attending Ike's birthday party on the White House grounds in Washington, D. C. In addition to seeing Mamie, these elite few managed to grasp the hand of the President as he greeted the thousands of well-wishers who flooded the White House grounds. It was not uncommon to see people pushing, standing on trees or on the shoulders of friends in order to get a glimpse of their beloved "Ike." One classmate, Jim Campbell, even received five dollars for taking a picture of President Eisenhower for an unidentified lady. He must have looked strange balanced on Jerry Calvert's shoulders, but we hope the photography was worth the price.

Throughout our senior year several members of the class brought honors to our school.

A future farmer, Jim Campbell, received the Keystone Farmer degree. This event took place at the Pennsylvania Farm Show on January 11, 1961, at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Mary Anne Harkless was honored for outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test which was given during our junior year. She received a letter of commendation from the president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Thelma Matey also brought honor to our school by being named the Better Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow. She earned this honor by receiving the highest grade in a test given to senior girls in home economics.

Beverly Pajank, having won the school and county competition in the annual cherry pie contest, placed second in the state competition and was a recipient of many lovely prizes.

We, the members of the senior class, are very proud of the honors that have been brought to West Middlesex by these outstanding students.

"Everything's On Ice," presented by the Senior Class, proved to be a howling success. This three-act comedy was a "mixed-up" version of everyday life. Some of the antics backstage proved to be as hilarious as those on stage. Gary Wetzel and Herb Groce are still wondering how the bat turned into a hole in the wall.

Mary Anne's face still turns red when she recalls the scene in which she wore her pajamas by mistake.

SENIORS

Chairs and tables were pushed aside, and the cafeteria was decorated with balloons for the junior-senior Valentine Party on Feb. 13, 1961.

Broom dances and progressive dances helped everyone join in the fun. Cookies, ice cream, and pop were served.

Even though homework and school the next day demanded an early curfew, everyone seemed to enjoy himself. The clean-up committee zealously struggled to return order to the cafeteria. To their dismay, upon completion they discovered a table missing. Chagrinned, they rearranged the tables and chairs.

Girls in heels and semi-formal dresses and boys in suits gathered in the cafeteria for the annual junior-senior party. After enjoying a buffet supper prepared by the cafeteria staff and served by the Waitress Club, the guests moved to the gym for an evening of dancing.

The lively music of Frank Bonacci's band and the lavender and white decorations gave a festive air to the occasion. Everyone was reluctant to leave. As the last tune faded, the seniors seemed to realize that this would be their last junior-senior party.

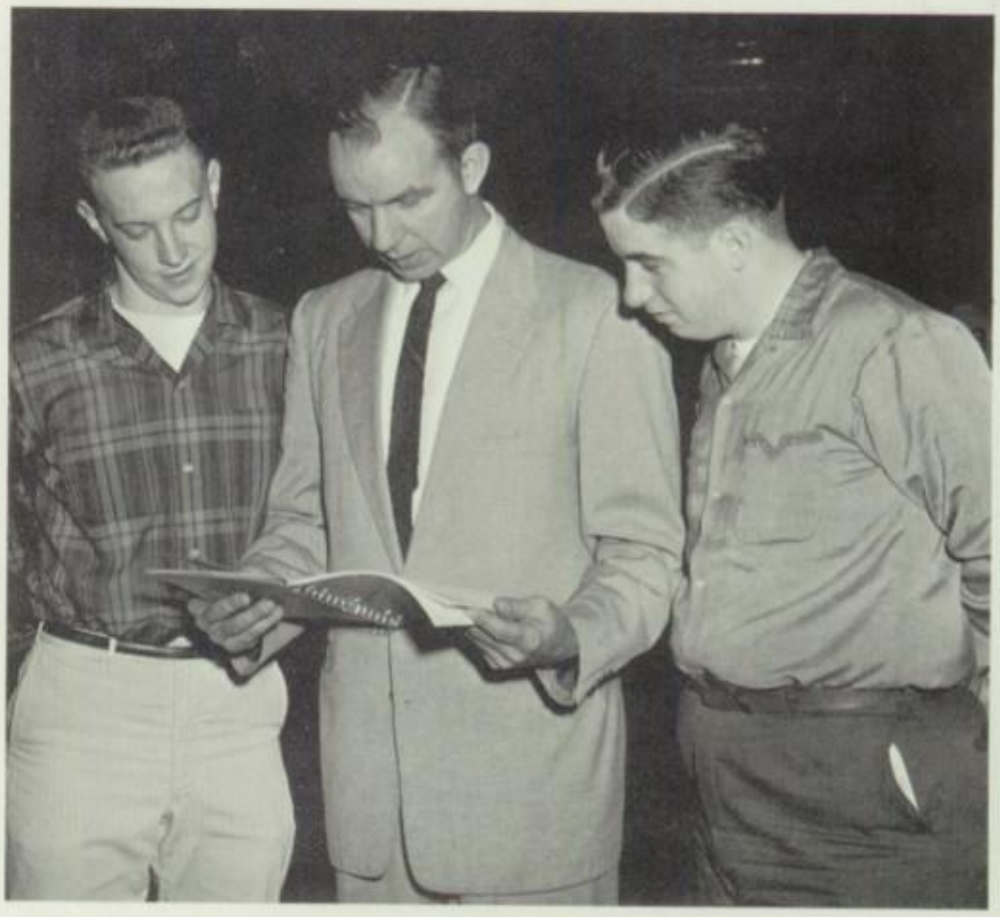
VARSITY BASKETBALL

Mr. Borowicz, serving his first year as varsity coach, lead the Big Reds to the county championship. After downing their traditional rivals, the Reynolds Raiders, the team had high hopes for even greater victories but were defeated in the sectional contest by Cochranton.

Dick Houy and Herb Groce, two dead-eye dicks, contributed their high scores to the fourteen-ten record while Butch Hoffman's and Mark Kralevich's spirit and tricky ball handling sparked the team to victory.

The juniors on the team also received valuable experience which will help them next year.



Dick Nelson, Manager, Mr. Borowicz, Coach, Melvin Kralevich, Manager.

Ed Bodo

Dwight Gill

The increasing interest of the student body in wrestling is partially due to the great success of our team this year. The boys hold a commendable record of 5 wins and 8 losses against more experienced teams.

Many of our wrestlers did very well. Among them are Cyril Batten, who lost only two matches during the season and advanced to the Sectional Finals, Ted Creighton who lost one match and went to the Sectional Semi-Finals, and Allen Womer, Ed Bodo, and Bill Divens, who lost only three matches.

Excellent sportsmanship and team spirit were shown by the entire team, win or lose.

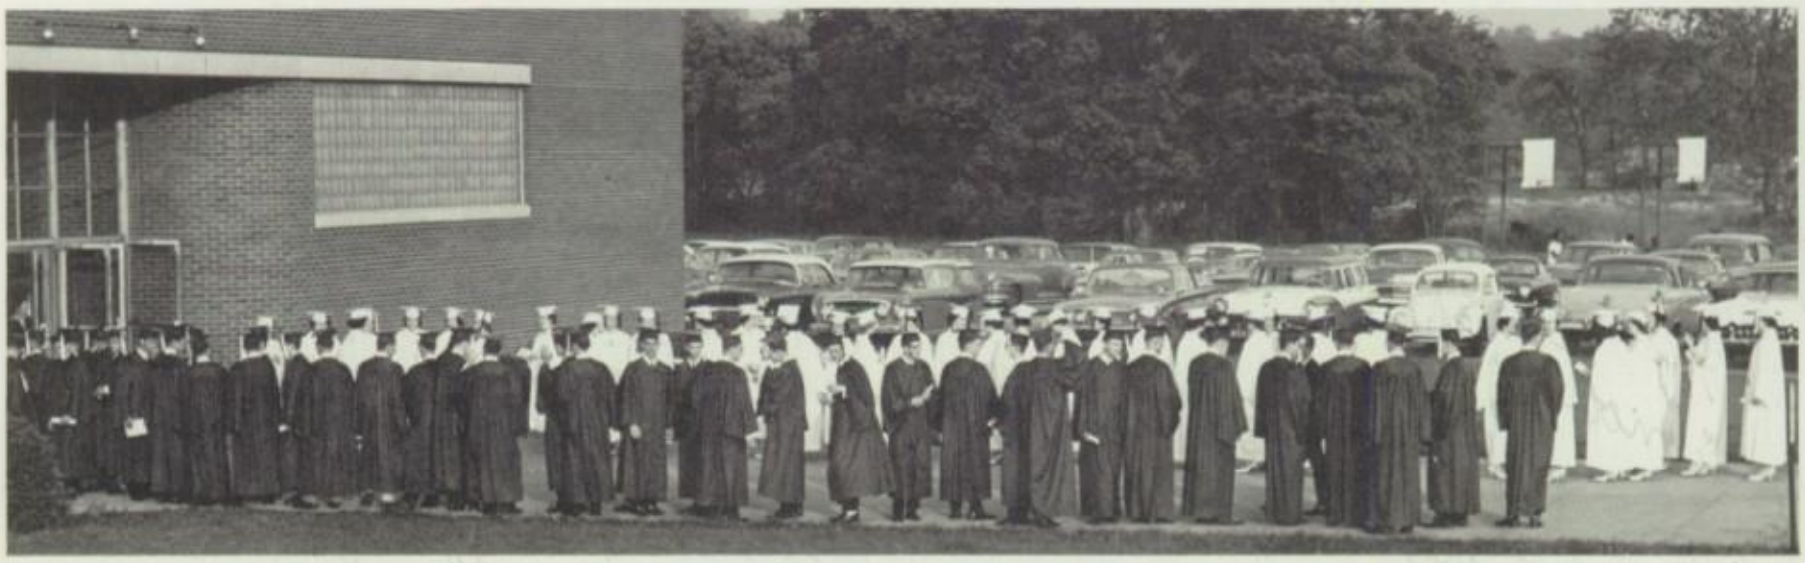
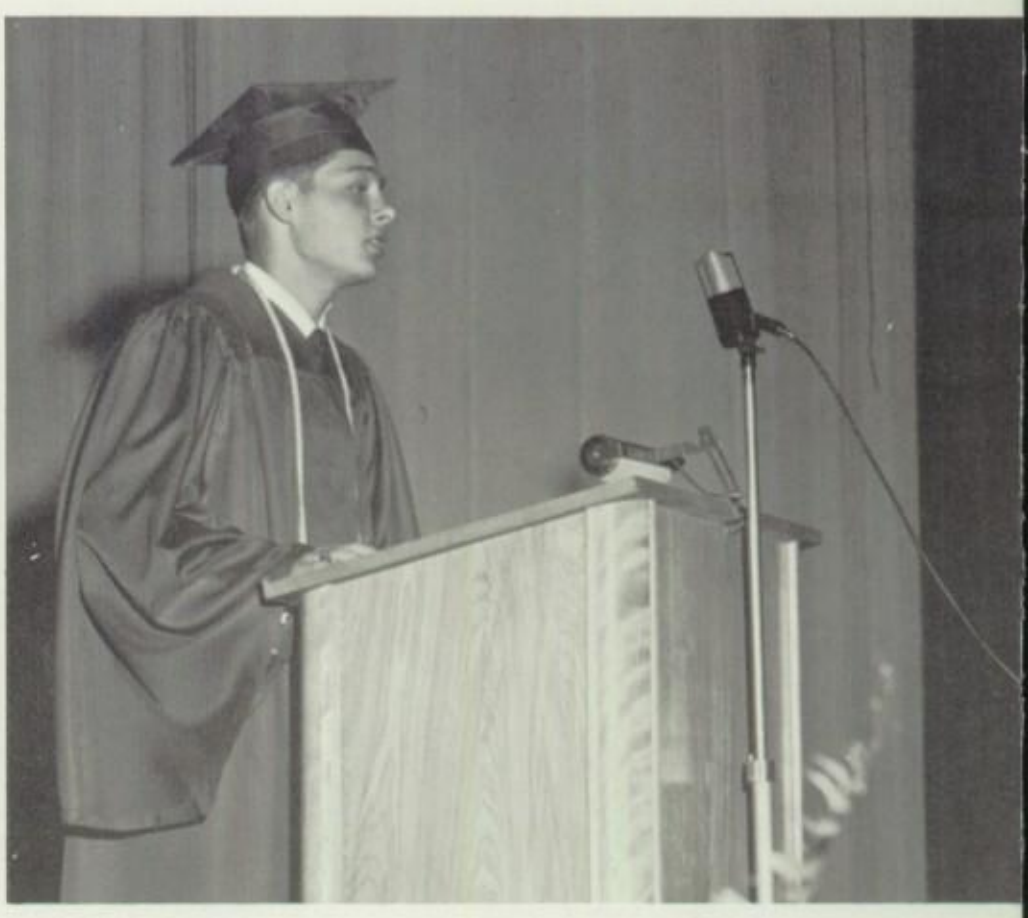
GRADUATION

Ready for their diplomas.

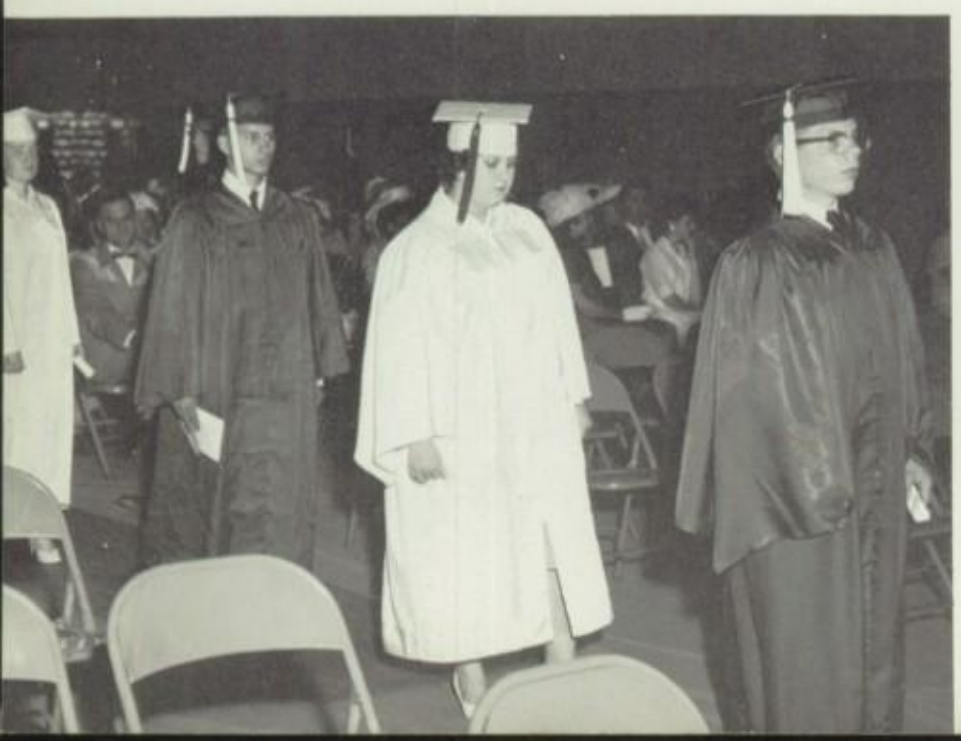


Lining up outside the gymnasium before Commencement Exercises.

With Baccalaureate and Commencement we close both the year and our yearbook. In the years to come, we the class of '61 shall make many contributions towards a better world, even though we may not become rich or famous. Equipped with the education obtained in the last twelve years, we shall strive to maintain the respect of our elders, preserve our country in peace, and fulfill the confidence expressed in us.



The Valedictorian delivers his speech.



The Processional, Baccalaureate.

girlfriend to the prom. May your success in whatever you attempt always be crowned
Howard

Dear Pete.
Autographs don't seem to mean alot when you see your classmates every day and
they're the same irritable people, but when your hair is graying
and maybe your kids
are say "but you don't understand Dad!"
then I hope you'll remember me and think
of fun and good times
we've had and District
and our hopes for Regional and graduation and all
as Seniors! Your admiring classmate.
Patricia Ruffo

Pete,
Is a very nice friend. Good luck in everything
you do.
Always,
Marlene
